MALONE STADIUM

Malone Stadium underwent a major facelift in 2007. Work began on April 30, 2007 to install a new synthetic turf system at Malone Stadium, slated for completion by early August when the Warhawks return to campus for fall practice.

R.D. Owens Construction, Inc., of West Monroe, will handle the civil, site and utility work to prepare the field before laying the turf.

The turf installation was done by ARMS Building and Maintenance of Longview, Texas, the same company that handled the new surfacing job on the court in Fant-Ewing Coliseum in the summer of 2006.

The Warhawks' new field will be a state-of-the-art field featuring ProPlay monofilament fiber "grass" with a shock and drain pad, and Envirofill clear-coated sand infill.

The monofilament fiber will be more realistic in appearance than older synthetic turf fields, while the shock pad serves as an injury prevention enhancement to the field.

The clear-coated sand infill has three significant benefits over older systems that use the ground-up black rubber infill: 1) it will not absorb heat like the ground-up black rubber, making for a cooler playing surface; 2) it will not compact over time, saving on future maintenance; and 3) it does not fly up during use nor migrate, meaning it will stay in place better, not clog drainage systems, become an eye irritant during play, or get tracked into locker rooms.

Malone Stadium, which will host the first ESPN2 game of the 2007 season on Aug. 30 against Tulsa, continues to be a comfortable and successful home for Warhawk football.

Other renovations over the last five years include the replacement of the press box/sky box elevator. Construction completed in 2003 and the new elevator is larger, faster and more efficient to accommodate the media and booster club members.

Handrails were added in 2003 on the west side bleachers in both the lower and upper decks.

The east side bleachers were expanded by 8,350 seats in 1993, the last season of I-AA competition, to give Malone its current capacity of 30,427.

Prior to the new turf and elevator, the most recent addition was nine east side corporate suites. The suites, which comfortably seat 20 people each, include restrooms and a kitchen area and are located between the upper and lower east side levels.

Malone opened in 1978 and is in its 30th year of service. In its first season, the stadium consisted of only the west side skyscraper. By 1979, the fieldhouse beneath the west stands and east side seating were completed.

ULM had never averaged over 10,000 in attendance before 1978, but drew 11,791 fans per game the first season in Malone.

By the early 1980's, ULM was averaging 18,000 fans a game, making an expansion necessary. The east side stands were extended into each end zone in 1983 and the Booster Skybox was renovated and expanded in 1985, raising the seating capacity from 20,000 to 23,277. Press box enlargement and the addition of two camera decks in 1991 dropped that figure to 22,077 prior to the 1993 enlargement.

In 1995, ULM again averaged over 18,000 (18,057), posting the third-highest season attendance mark in school history. The Warhawks set an all-time record by drawing 24,842 fans for the Minnesota game in 1996 and broke that mark in 1998 when 28,725 fans attended the ULM-Louisiana Tech game.

The main stadium area is the two-deck structure on the west side. Most of the stadium's 2,972 chairback seats, plus 20 open-air corporate boxes providing 160 seats for Red Warrior and Silver Brave boosters, are on the lower concourse. Since 1983, an elevator has aided those with special needs and boosters in reaching the first level concourse.

Included in the west side press box is the Indian Skybox, which accommodates 304 of ULM's top athletic boosters in theater-type seating. The upper level seats 120 and contains the main press area, the President's box, Athletic Director's box, booths for home and visiting radio crews, the public address announcer, and coaches from both teams.

The field house beneath the west side contains over 70 rooms and 38,000 square feet of floor space.

MALONE STADIUM FACTS

Name: Named in memory of James L. (Jim) Malone, ULM's football coach from 1934-53. Dedicated on Sept. 27, 1980, after being known as Indian Stadium for two years.

Cost: $6,579,400 (includes land, stadium and fieldhouse)

Seating Capacity: 30,427 (2,972 chairback seats, 27,455 aluminum bench seats). Upper deck added to east side (8,350 seats) in 1993 for ULM's move to I-A in 1994.

Parking Capacity: 2,960 vehicles (2,060 hard surface; 900 grass)

Stadium Height: 133 feet (ground level to elevator penthouse) Why So Tall? Flood plain characteristics made a bowl stadium impossible, so the architects designed the equivalent of an above-ground bowl.

Stadium Length: 330 feet

Playing Surface: ProPlay turf install Summer of 2007; Natural grass (1978-2006) - last installation in 2001 - Bermuda 419 sod.

Lighting: 210,000 Watts (140 1,500-watt metal halide lamps in five banks provide 100-foot candles of lighting three feet above field level).

First Game: Sept. 16, 1978
ULM 21, Arkansas State 13

First Score: Doug Dobbs of Arkansas State kicked a 32-yard field goal.

First ULM Score: QB Kirby Arceneaux scored on a 73-yard run vs. Arkansas State on Sept. 16, 1978.

Homecoming Record: 17-8-1 (.673)

Home Openers: 23-5 (.821)

Special features include dressing rooms with new lockers, tutor rooms, team and position meeting rooms, a student athlete computer lab, visiting team facilities, the ULM sports medicine complex, the equipment room, a video sports lab and a laundry room. The football coaches, athletics director and athletic ticket offices are also housed in Malone.

The Scogin Room, used for VIP and booster functions, and sports luncheon, is also in the field house.

Completing the field house is the weight and conditioning room, a 100-by-96-foot. Completing the field house is the weight and conditioning room, a 100-by-96-foot room with synthetic turf which gives ULM's student athletes a large and comfortable area to work in the off-season.
